

Gable against legacy LBM systems.

What changes for a dealer owner: who owns the system, where it runs, what it costs to connect, and whether you can see and change it.

	GABLE	LEGACY LBM SYSTEMS
Who owns it	You do. The system that runs your business is yours to keep.	The vendor does. You rent access, year after year.
Where it runs	On your own server, in your cloud, or hosted for you. Your choice, and you can move it.	Where the vendor decides, on the vendor's terms.
Every screen	The counter, the yard, the trucks, the back office and the contractor portal, in a browser and on phones.	A desktop program, with add-ons for the yard and the road.
Connecting other tools	Included. Connect the tools you already use, with no fee for each connection.	Charged by the module or by the connection, every year.
Seeing and changing it	You can see how it works and change it to fit the way your yard runs.	Closed. Changes wait on the vendor's roadmap.

THE FEATURE SET

133 capabilities a lumber and building materials dealer runs on.

The counter, quotes, contract pricing, the yard, deliveries with proof, receivables and the books, in one system you own.
